

SOLAREGE ALLIANCE PROGRAM – GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF PARTICIPATION

The Terms & Conditions of Participation provided herein are intended to set forth your rights as a participant of our Alliance Program. Should you require any clarifications, please contact alliance@solaredge.com. Please note, however, that the Terms & Conditions of Participation governing the SolarEdge Alliance Program cannot be superseded or changed, unless modified in writing by SolarEdge Technologies.

1. General

The SolarEdge Alliance Program by SolarEdge Technologies Ltd. and its affiliates and subsidiaries ("SolarEdge") provides an opportunity for registered installers to accumulate points upon registration of a new installation of SolarEdge systems in the SolarEdge Monitoring platform and in other instances as SolarEdge determines from time to time. Provided participation entitlement as set forth below, participation in the SolarEdge Alliance Program is automatically granted to installers registering their systems in the cloud-based Monitoring platform. Members may choose to close their membership at any time. In the SolarEdge Alliance Program, points can be accumulated for the registration of SolarEdge photovoltaic (PV) systems or other specific activities or services. Registered installations must be physically connected to the SolarEdge server and reporting telemetries. The points accumulated can then be redeemed for attractive rewards. These Terms & Conditions of Participation establish the rules for participation in the SolarEdge Alliance Program and the extent of the services to be provided by SolarEdge as part of this program.

By redeeming points for a reward at <https://www.solaredge.com/alliance>, participants accept these Terms & Conditions of Participation. No other conditions established by participants shall apply, even if SolarEdge does not explicitly reject them. Insofar as this is required for legal or business reasons, SolarEdge reserves the right to change, enhance, delete, or temporarily or permanently suspend individual gift tables, parts of gift tables or the entire web pages dealing with the SolarEdge Alliance Program. SolarEdge will inform participants sufficiently in advance. Participants have no claim to the availability of Alliance web pages or of data available herein.

2. Participation Entitlement

SolarEdge elects, in its sole discretion, where and when to activate or end the SolarEdge Alliance Program. At present, all PV system installation companies with a shipping address in the United States, Canada, the European Union, Israel and Australia are entitled to take part in the SolarEdge Alliance Program. We expect to open the program for all of our installers worldwide in the future. End customers, system owners, distributors, traders and competitors may not take part in the SolarEdge Alliance Program. SolarEdge is entitled to reject applicants unless restrictive legal provisions prevent it from doing so.

3. Registration

Only legally authorized representatives of the installation company are entitled to register. If a legal entity registers, a natural person must be appointed to manage access to the SolarEdge Alliance Program. The appointed person must be authorized to manage the participant's data. Points are held by the company's account and not by any natural person. SolarEdge is not responsible for how the natural person(s) appointed by the company to administer their account uses the points held in their account.

By registering their SolarEdge installations, potential participants give their assurance that they are entitled to register and that all information supplied is correct. Participants undertake to provide prompt notification of any changes to their registration information.

Management of the SolarEdge Alliance Program account, including point balance inquiries and point redemption is handled via <https://solaredge.com/alliance/> When registering a SolarEdge system installation for the first time, or when logging on to the cloud-based Monitoring platform for the first time, each participant is given password-protected access. Participants undertake to treat user IDs and passwords in confidence and not to pass them on to unauthorized third parties. SolarEdge must be notified immediately of the loss or suspected misuse of login data. Should SolarEdge become aware of such matters, it is permitted to take the necessary countermeasures and, particularly in the case of misuse, to exclude the participant concerned from further use of the Monitoring platform.

Correspondence, transactions and detailed information about the SolarEdge Alliance Program may be communicated online via www.solaredge.com/groups/alliance, by e-mail, by standard mail or by calling the SolarEdge support centers. Contact data and information about the Alliance Program will be given to participants when their registration is confirmed.

4. Registration Method

To register an installation, the serial number of the inverter should be registered via the site registration form of the Monitoring platform. Each SolarEdge installation may only be registered once. In the event that two participants claim to be entitled to register the same system, each participant shall provide evidence to SolarEdge in the form of a purchase invoice or installation order. Following which, SolarEdge, in its sole discretion, shall determine which participant is the legal owner of the applicable SolarEdge products.

5. Accumulating Points

The number of points accumulated depends on the watt size of the installation, as determined by the inverter's nameplate power rating. Points are awarded for every kW of a SolarEdge PV system purchased, installed, and registered on the SolarEdge Monitoring platform by participants. For this purpose, installation can be a new site or an increase in kW at an existing site. Installation includes the combination of SolarEdge power optimizers and inverters. Replacement of inverters or power optimizers in an existing installation is excluded from the Alliance Program.

For every 1000 watts of a registered SolarEdge PV system, fifteen (15) points are accumulated. For example, for a 50kW installation of a SolarEdge PV system, the participant is awarded 750 points. SolarEdge, in its sole discretion, may change from time to time, the point value awarded per kW.

SolarEdge may also choose to award participants with points independent of registration of a new site installation, in its sole discretion as part of other promotional activities.

SolarEdge may cancel accumulated points if: 1) the participant breaches these Terms & Conditions of Participation, 2) the conditions for the award of points no longer apply, 3) points were awarded by mistake, 4) the participant has misused the system, or 5) circumstances are known to exist which would have ruled out the award of points had they been previously known.

6. Redeeming Points

Alliance Program points are credited to the participant's account and may be redeemed in exchange for the rewards available from SolarEdge as soon as the required number of points for the reward in question has been accumulated. The availability of the rewards may vary. There is therefore no legal entitlement to a specific reward from the selection.

The currently available rewards can be viewed at www.solaredge.com/groups/alliance.

Rewards are region-specific (UK, North America, Israel, Netherlands, Rest of Europe and Australia). SolarEdge reserves the right to decide which countries will participate in the Alliance Program. Installers may only choose a reward based on the region where they have a valid shipping address. If an installer's country is not listed, an email may be sent to join the Alliance Program to: alliance@solaredge.com. Shipping of rewards, however, is only permitted if the installer's shipping address is in the participating countries. Rewards must be ordered from the table relevant to the country of the shipping address.

The rewards shipped are brand new and SolarEdge shall bear no liability for the rewards. In the event of a defect with a reward sent, Participant may send an email to alliance@solaredge.com reporting the problem and it is within SolarEdge's rights to decide whether to place the participant and the supplier in contact in order to replace the reward.

Accumulated points are non-transferrable. Rewards may not be exchanged and the accumulated points may not be exchanged for cash.

7. Point Expiration

Points accumulated and credited to a participants' account for a certain calendar year, shall expire 18 months following the end of that calendar year. For example, points accumulated at any point during calendar year 2017 shall expire on June 1st, 2019.

If the Alliance Program is terminated, SolarEdge shall inform participants at least three months in advance to enable them to redeem their points.

Participants may terminate participation in the Alliance Program at any time. In such cases, points that have been accumulated must be redeemed in exchange for rewards prior to termination. There is no entitlement to redeem the points in exchange for rewards at a later date.
